

SENIOR STUDENT PEN PROFILE

Name	Emily Sheffield
What position do you hold?	Charity Rep
What are you studying?	Maths, Geography, Psychology
Why are you studying at Richard Hale?	I wanted a new environment to learn in that was beneficial both academically and socially. The focused, supervised study periods are particularly helpful and they ensure I use my time productively, aiding my time management skills. I like the welcoming nature of the school and how the teachers are prepared to support you in any way they can.
What does your Senior Student position mean to you?	It means raising money and resources for local and international charities, as well as helping the rest of the school learn about the inequalities and people in need. It also means arranging school events and getting involved.
Why did you apply for your position?	I wanted the opportunity to engage with the wider community and give back to my school. Charity ambassador is well tailored to my organisation and communication skills, as well as the fact that it has a direct link to helping others which I find genuinely rewarding. I like the hands-on approach necessary for this role, rather than only working behind the scenes. In this role I can bring to life some of my ideas.
How do you fulfil the school's values?	Respect others - I try to understand other people's perspectives on a topic, despite whether these contrast my own. I do my best to be friendly and open to everyone. Aim High - I am aspiring to attend a Russell Group university. In order to do so, I try to study conscientiously for all of my A Levels to achieve the grades I can. Show Commitment - Within the school, I have been dedicated to maths mentoring, a program I have been a part of since the beginning of the year. I have also completed Bronze, Silver and I am in the process of completing Gold, which has been a big commitment over the last few years.
