

SENIOR STUDENT PEN PROFILE

Name	Harry Cox
What position do you hold?	Croft House Captain
What are you studying?	Maths, Geography, economics
Why are you studying at Richard Hale?	I have been at Richard Hale since year 7 and thoroughly enjoyed every moment of it. I always knew I wanted to continue at Richard Hale and do my A-Levels here. I also continued studying here in order to maintain the strong connections that I had developed in the school community. I have always been impressed with the range of academic and extra curricular activities provided, especially within sport.
What does your Senior Student position mean to you?	Being captain of the house I've been part of since year 7 means a lot to me. It allows me to give back to both the house and school, by getting as many people involved in the house system as possible.
Why did you apply for your position and what are you hoping to achieve during your tenure?	I applied to be House Captain to improve my leadership and communication skills. I'm hoping to inspire as many younger students as possible and of course help Croft in winning the Cock House Cup. I'm also hoping to introduce new house events to get more people involved.
How do you fulfil the school's values?	Respect others - I'm always happy and interested to hear other people's ideas and suggestions. I strive to be polite and punctual at all times. I have great respect for those that put themselves out there and step outside their comfort zone. Aim High - Throughout my whole education I have always been dedicated to my studies, always determined to out do others expectations of me. I always push myself outside my comfort zone with the aim of improving myself. Show Commitment - I have been committed to my studies since year 7, I have consistently helped out with cricket coaching and maths mentoring throughout year 12.

Do you have any further comments about Richard Hale Sixth Form	The step up from GCSE's to A-levels is intense but the sixth form team are always there to help you. Year 12 has been interesting and great fun, especially studying a completely new subject and meeting new people.
